Program: Randy Lovell, Professional Leadership Trainer & Speaker

American business professionals are uninspired. According to a recent Maritz Research poll, only 10% of employees look forward to going to work, and most point to a lack of leadership as to the reason why. But it doesn't have to be that way. All business leaders have the power to inspire, motivate, and positively influence the people in their professional lives.

- New project managers will learn how to achieve a team's full potential by using proven leadership principles.
- Existing project managers will sharpen their leadership doctrine.
- Learn a unique, insightful five-step plan, which charts a course to create and maintain strong leadership in any organization.

Mr. Lovell received a B.S. from the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, and an M.S. in Systems Engineering from the University of Houston at Clear Lake. He has 28 years of Project Management experience and currently is the Project Manager for the ISS Potable Water Dispenser. Mr. Lovell has organized and managed several project teams, including the Low Impact Docking System (LIDS) Systems Engineering Team; Space Shuttle Upgrades Change Management Teams for United Space Alliance and the Business Acquisition Project Team for Northrop Grumman. Currently Mr. Lovell is past President of the Texas Gulf Coast Chapter for International Council of Systems Engineering (INCOSE) and is past President of South Western Aerospace Professional Representatives Association (SWAPRA). Mr. Lovell owns his own Leadership Training Company and has facilitated multiple leadership seminar courses at private venues across the US.
